

Colorectal cancer (CRC) and breast cancer (KP) are among the most frequently occurring cancers in our population. many However, patients are diagnosed in advanced stages diseases. Therefore, in our country established national prevention programs, consisting of regular preventive examinations (mammography, stool for hidden blood or colonoscopy). It is not known what is the awareness and part of the target population in individual programs.