

This bachelor work is analyzing use of music and rhythm in physiotherapy practice. It describes effects of music on somatic functions and psychology of a man. It emphasizes significance of rhythm and rhythmical activities during the therapy. Focuses on therapy application in to the neurology, pediatrics and for patients suffering psychological problems.