

Abstract:

This bachelor thesis is intent on As determination in various types of homeopathic remedy Arsenicum Album which are available in Czech Republic. The method selected for this determination is atomic absorption spectrometry with hydride generation. The content of As_2O_3 in recommended daily dose of homeopathic was confronted with toxicologically referred maximal dose and it was discussed if there is any risk of health damage by using Arsenicum Album.