

Author: Pavla Zemanová

Institution: Department of Social Medicine, Medical Faculty of Charles University in Hradec Kralove

Department of Nursing

Title: The organization of medical rescue services and the role of the Pardubice Region paramedical personnel in the prehospital care

Leader: MUDr.Otomar Kušička

Number of pages: 89

Number of attachments: 3

Used pieces of literature: 13

Year of Completion: 2011

Keywords: prehospital emergency care, ambulance, rescue an integrated system of regional medical operations center, the crews, the departure station, the crew is quick medical aid, medical emergencies, emergency call, hotline, Rendez vous system

Summary:

This thesis seeks to describe the organization and history of emergency medical services and working in prehospital care. Then I focused on the origin and gradual development of emergency medical services in Pardubice. The subject of the empirical findings was the difference in work crews under the ambulance and rescue service. Synovate interviewed paramedical workers, nurses, specialized, medical rescue, rescue drivers and operators of regional medical operations center.