

This thesis deals with creation of nature trails around Kozákov in the Czech Paradise. The submitter of this work is Geopark Bohemian Paradise, which is part of a global network of Global geoparks network of UNESCO. They were carried out geological studies in the area of interest with the participation of leading Czech experts over recent years (Rapprich et al. 2007), which came up with surprising results.

Content of this thesis was to get a photographic material in the Bohemian Paradise area, plan a route through the attractive sides and the research literature, especially. This thesis does not in the coming years in connection with recent studies provide accurate data.