

ANNOTATION

Evaluation and self-evaluation accompany us all life, not only in the school atmosphere but also in working and personal environment. We aren't often aware that we evaluate. Evaluation and self-evaluation express values, that we have chosen. The teacher should pay attention to this theme and try to present the children values that are respected of all the society. The teachers present authority for most of pupils today, that is why the teacher should be the model of right behaviour.