

Diploma thesis analyses selected theatrical plays of distinguished modern Indian dramatists (Vijay Tendulkar, Girish Karnad and Badal Sircar among others) in light of the unifying motive of violence. It compares different literary approaches towards the issue under discussion and observes transformation of this theme within various dramatic genres / social, historical, existential – absurd, political and mythological.