

Abstract

Objective of the thesis: The objective of this study is to get an overview of soldiers activities of the reconnaissance platoon of HQ company of 41st mechanized battalion, located in Ťatec. To try to confirm or refute the results of my bachelor thesis, in which I found out, that soldier in reconnaissance position needs mainly endurance for his work.

Methods: Main used method is the analysis time frame and creation of characteristics of the given position in the AČR. I will conduct by standardized tests for testing of motor skills.

Results: Think out tests, that best reflect the activities of soldiers of reconnaissance platoon and to determine their level of motor skills. Setting the limits of tests of physical training for selection of candidates for the reconnaissance platoon.

Key words: Description of occupational activities, professiography, motor skills, motor tests.