

This thesis is focused on animation as a part of art education. The basic and useful technique, a flipbook, is fully described while its major advantages and potential drawbacks are discussed. In the chapter on applied works, author's own flipbooks and animations made by various techniques are presented.