

Dissertation considers communication competences of teacher when communicating with adults. Based on the selected communication situations in primary pedagogic practice there are explained and described appropriate communication skills needed for effective solving of defined situations. Practical outputs are global standards of communication with concrete requests for quality and effectiveness of performed activity.