

Abstract

The work focuses on the influence of European Union on the development policy of Czech republic. Because of description of the change , the content of the work is also czech development policy before 2004. Aim of the first part is to characterize concepts of europeanization, development aid and development aid of European Union. The largest and the most important part of the work is made by description of the progress and transformation of czech development policy. This part is divided into three periods, under which will be change of development policy demonstrated.