

The aim of this graduation thesis is to document activity of KSC in -' the district of Ustí nad Labem during period between May 1945 and February 1948. When compiling this theme I principally aim for analyzing organizational work of the Communist party, its acting in bodies of local self-government, programme and party agitation. By appraising these aspects I pursue answering -' questions, why did the majority of inhabitants living in the district of Ustí nad Labem give its support to communists and how did communists utilize this support in delimited period of time.