

This bachelor thesis introduces EU's Cohesion Policy and the place of Cohesion Policy in Czech Republic. Further introduces the problem of absorption capacity. The practical part of this thesis verifies whether the Czech Republic has a problem with absorption capacity. Possibility of unused all funds is evaluated using the public data for the years 2007 – 2009 with the main attention in year 2009.