

The work deals with a specific type of bullying: cyberbullying. It describes its characteristics, namely when and where bullying takes place, who is the aggressor and the victim, who is looker-on, and the probable causes and consequences of what this kind of bullying can have on children and youth. The work summarizes the current knowledge of how to prevent cyberbullying and how to deal with it when it is exposed.