

The object of my dissertation called Interrelations between question and answer in political interview is to make broad pragmatic analysis of dialogic texts printed in reputable daily press. This analysis is based on 43 interviews published in the Czech dailies "Právo" and "Lidové noviny". The dissertation deals, in the above mentioned sort of interview, in more detail with an issue of publicistic replicas and their influence on replicas of an informant.

It is concerned with large number of certain questions (publicistic replicas are divided into replicas with declaratory question, complementary question, statement of interviewer with assumed answer of informant and reaction of journalist to replica of informant), then studies especially interview from strategy point of view used by journalist (manipulating particularly) and tactical strategies of informants (these are divided into defensive, offensive and manipulating). The dissertation also deals with relation of an interview to objectivity - the information one as well as journalistic. This kind of objectivity is mostly kept in interview.

At the conclusion there is included the project with a published political interview at high school, actually public school, which can be realized during some special seminary or as supplementary learning to subject Czech language and literature.