

Diploma thesis deals with gender in Primary school. Attention in this field is focused especially on the relationship among the teacher and his/her students in the teaching process. Theoretical background makes clear meaning of gender from different aspects. Practical part of my diploma thesis deals with the teachers' attitude to pupils. These attitudes are found out through empiric method, observation.