

The diploma work focuses on home preparation of pupils at primary school. It deals with primary education and characterises the junior school age in connection with home preparation of pupils. The attention is above all given to homework and home learning. It concentrates on appropriate environment for home preparation, problems with homework, motivation for doing homework and assistance provided by parents with the home preparation of their children. It analyses kinds, forms and frequency of homework in detail. It investigates opinions of the educationalists at primary schools, parents and children on assigning homework.
