

This thesis deals with the geographical aspects of the transformation of the automotive industry in Hungary and Slovakia. The particularities of economical transformation are presented with emphasis on the automotive industry in mentioned countries and their final comparison. The specific objective of this study was to determine the effects of the economic crisis in years 2008-2009 in the automotive industry based on analysis of changes in employment in this sector and its possible effects on the growth of regional unemployment.