

Abstract

This study concerns with social aspects of secondhand clothing in connection with alternative clothing behavior. It presents scientific studies, relevant to these topics, published up to now and introduce to its own empirical research from this course of study which analyses interviews with women dressed in alternative way and whose style of clothing aquires from seconhand clothes.