

A view of correct body posture in commercially used sports systems and comparison with the view in the context of developmental kinesiology