

This bachelor thesis focuses on marketing and advertisement in entertainment industry. In theoretical part the work initially defines entertainment industry and then analyzes the basic marketing knowledge, with focus on advertisement. In analytical part the work deals with differences of marketing in entertainment industry and addresses the key problems in entertainment industry as well as key problems in advertising. Finally, this work offers a solution for these problems in form of advertising on thematic events, which is illustrated on the example of Festival of Fantasy.