

Abstrakt

The target of this bachelor work was to be established the summary of information sources for unemployed persons in the Czech republic, which are provided on the Internet. In the foreword was already explained the useful basic terms for the problems about the unemployment, destined in the short overview about development of unemployment on the area Czech republic. The second part of bachelor work dealing with combination of user working with I formations and with operation of Human resources. This chapter is solving the basic query and questions which needed to be requested from every unemployed person and gone advised to the most important types of information sources regarding the searching of work places. The third part of bachelor describes information sources and their possibilities for unemployed person. At last is written how to be characterized web sides of several types for information sources, the resolution evaluated user helpfulness and contribution to the unemployed persons.