BBC

1. On Saturday morning, the couple emerged hand-in-hand from Buckingham Palace’s garden entrance.
   http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-13248441

2. The reception at the palace on Friday night, hosted by the Prince of Wales, is believed to have featured Prince Harry's best man speech and Michael Middleton's father-of-the-bride address.
   http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-13248441

3. These included not wanting to be seen sunning themselves at a time of austerity; William's commitment to his job; and a desire to play cat-and-mouse with the media.
   http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-13248441

4. But what might make the pressure almost unbearable for Prince William and Catherine Middleton, his bride-to-be, is the knowledge that many of those choices and opinions have global ramifications.

5. The white Reiss dress she wore for the Mario Testino's official engagement photograph was, for a while, selling at one-per-minute.

6. Commentators say that she has yet to find her fashion mojo, but once she moves from off-the-peg (she'll have to apparently) to bespoke, her true colours will be revealed.

7. It means the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh will miss Prince Harry's best man's speech and Michael Middleton's father-of-the-bride address.
   http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-13217693

8. Another thing he cares about passionately is how his wife-to-be will cope as a senior member of a family like no other.
   http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-13140709

9. It offers freshness, youth and the prospect of a soon-to-be-married prince as a head of state in waiting.
   http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-13140709

10. There are voices of dissent. One of the more surprising supporters of an abandonment of royal business-as-usual is former newspaper editor Sir Max Hastings.

11. Another thing he cares about passionately is how his wife-to-be will cope as a senior member of a family like no other.
http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-13140709

12. Photographs of the prince's bride-to-be - and fellow former University of St Andrews student - have adorned every British newspaper on a regular basis since the engagement was announced.
http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/entertainment-arts-13065219

13. "Whenever any important figure wears fashion it's going to influence people all over the world, and obviously this is her moment, so anything that she chooses is going to be of huge interest," says Anna Wintour, editor-in-chief of American Vogue.
http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/entertainment-arts-13065219

14. But the private-versus-state school debate may be the wrong prism through which to study the dynamics of the contemporary music industry.

22. Over home-made cookies, and freshly-brewed coffee, 44-year-old Diana Koenig, a stay-at-home mum with two children, explains how her family's petrol station and convenience store business was forced to close two years ago, after the gas prices became unaffordable.
http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/magazine-11604958

23. She says the level of one-to-one contact was far higher than she had experienced in previous "onsite" post-graduate courses.
24. Professor Rick Rylance, chief executive of the Arts and Humanities Research Council, says there will still be a strong demand for a face-to-face experience, whether that's between students and their teachers or the students themselves.

25. It will put it head-to-head with Amazon, which links its Kindle device to its own store, and Apple with its iBookstore.

26. It has one bedroom and a double sofa bed in the lounge, which has fabulous floor-to-ceiling windows leading on to a balcony with sea views. It also has a garden with a barbecue.

27. 'Blended learning' – combining face-to-face sessions with online work and forums – is one of the fastest-growing trends in education

28. "Instead, there was a really good focus on mixing up the way you learn, speaking to tutors by phone and email, using chat forums, and face-to-face study sessions

29. "Students come together through organised face-to-face events, but the convenience of not having to travel to classes means that online ones are appealing to a growing number of our learners," says Niall Sclater, director of learning innovation at the university.

30. Even hands-on courses are now being studied at a distance with the help of blended learning.

31. "Distance learning students are encouraged to join in the face-to-face activities as much as possible," says spokeswoman Bryony Merritt.

32. If you are interested in nurturing an understanding of architecture in up-and-coming generations, send in your suggestions: the government might just act on them.

33. But their lives still revolve around Gabby’s routine as she continues to need the same round-the-clock care as a newborn.
34. Through the floor-to-ceiling glass doors there’s a terrace, complete with hammock, private plunge pool and day bed, with a view of the ocean disappearing in the distance.

35. A once-in-a-lifetime excursion that you MUST do.

36. Niki, who runs Epohes with her husband Vagelis, prides herself on her home cooking and we dined on spinach and cheese pies, meat balls, country sausage and aubergine salad followed by melt-in-the-mouth lamb baked with lemon.

37. NATURAL Retreats Fistral Beach is offering guests the chance to combine a self-catering weekend break in a plush seaside residence with learn-to-surf sessions.

38. Post Office researchers compared the year-on-year cost of 10 tourist staples including soft drinks, sunscreen and an evening meal in the resort of Marmaris.

39. Billy's early rise-and-shine ethos was to "persuade" campers to get out into the outdoors. But there is so much on offer these days children probably don't need much persuading to get up and be active.

40. On Friday Butlin's is also teaming up with Brian Turner, the first Michelin starred British chef, for the opening of Turner's restaurant - a world away from the old two-sittings-for-dinner regime.

41. The Production Courtyard zone includes the not-for-the-fainthearted Twilight Zone Tower of Terror while in the Backlot you can loop-the-loop to the sound of Aerosmith on the Rock 'n' Roller Coaster.

42. Pick your must-see rides and attractions before you go then grab a map so you don't waste time wandering around aimlessly.
43. It wasn't quite the down-to-earth French cuisine I'd had in mind... a nut hacked from the centre of a thistle flower, slightly singed burdock-root "fries" and a side order of boiled thistle stem.

THE DAILY MAIL

46. Gareth Huw Davies discovers one of France’s too-long-overlooked old cities.

47. His must-do list includes a mighty chunk of Roman wall, a thrilling night-time light show, the tomb of Richard the Lionheart’s queen and a very special tea room.

48. According to my now-wife’s Debretts wedding guidebook - which barely left her side after we got engaged - obvious honeymoon destinations like The Maldives, Thailand, India, Mexico and the Caribbean were off limits because it would be the rainy season.

49. The pregnant mother-of-one went grocery shopping in Beverly Hills and was snapped in the vegetable section, selecting a range of salad ingredients.

50. The 29-year-old star also made a trip to baby store Gymboree to pick up some toys for Honor as well as some presents for her soon-to-be-born baby.

51. The hotel is very impressive, ever so modern, with sweeping, overhanging flyover bits and glass walls, a state-of-the-art spa and a host of outside pools with designer bars.

52. Why had we messed with a tried-and-tested formula?
53. We had far better luck on the somewhere-to-eat front, starting with a fairly swanky fish restaurant called Kaleta in the village of Ugljan, where the food was terrific and, especially by Kefalonian standards, incredibly cheap.

54. Florence for the Facebook generation: Art and ice cream on a mum-and-daughter trip

55. She certainly will return, if only to see the teenage-boy-on-motorbike side of Florence she was unable to on this trip because of the constraining presence of her mother!

56. On the way we had a welcome pitstop in Via Ricasoli at the Gelateria Carabe for the best Sicilian Granita, a delicious fruit-and-ice sorbet - a necessary cooling-down period after pounding the streets in the 40C heat.

57. Like the better-known Chateau Marmont, it has a reputation for out-of-control rock stars, but I have to say that when I was there I was very well-behaved.

58. Discover Egypt (www.discoveregypt.co.uk) offers a four-night bed-and-breakfast break at the Mena House hotel in Cairo from £699, including return flights from Heathrow.

59. Helpfully, the local tourist board has put together a series of 'shopping trails' designed to guide the keen-to-spend around the various outlets

60. A major stop on the East Coast Mainline, it is directly linked to London and Edinburgh, and takes in regular no-change-necessary services from Leeds, Manchester, Liverpool and Birmingham.

61. Random fact(s): The Minster (www.yorkminster.org) is the second largest Gothic cathedral in northern Europe (the biggest, as any pub quiz champion will tell you, is the very-big-indeed Kolner Dom in Cologne), and York's most potent symbol.
62. Stay: If you aren't desperate to join the festive shopping crush and can wait for January, the York tourist board is also offering a three-nights-for-the-price-of-two deal on selected hotels (which runs from New Year's Day to March 31st).

63. And as 'knit-your-own-beard' as that might sound, this equated to wonderful art, as well as splendid photographic prints of Yorkshire landscapes.
