

Abstract

The bachelor thesis covers with the theatre performed by children. The objectives are to determine whether a child should perform in front of audience and what influence such performance has on these children. The thesis compares different opinions of children's performance in front of audience and comes to the general conception of theatre performed by children. It monitors opinions of the actors – the children, their parents and the adults working with the children.

Part of this thesis is a script of a theatre play performed by 3rd grade children.
