

This bachelor thesis is concerned with the contemporary problems in education and how Waldorf pedagogy deals with these problems.

The thesis is divided into larger theoretical part, which covers the grounds and approaches of Waldorf pedagogy and the Czech standard educational system. I also look into the problems of education in a broader social context.

The practical part describes the pilot study carried out at a Waldorf basic school.