This bachelor thesis focuses on lesion of the peripheral nervous system. General part informs about the basic of anatomy peripheral nervous system and its possible damage, about the radial nerve, peripheral paresis and its treatment options. Special part includes case study of a patient with peripheral paresis n. radialis sin.