

Abstract in English

The topic of this Rigorous Thesis is the legal regulation of the monetary satisfaction according to Section 13 Subsection 2 and 3 of the Civil Code as a legal tool for the protection of personality rights under Czech and Slovak civil law. This work is hereto concerned on the civil law protection of personality rights and different legal tools for their protection in general, as well as on the right to reasonable pecuniary satisfaction itself, especially with regard to its functions, to the substantive legal requirements for its origination, to the determination of the amount of monetary satisfaction, and to the forfeiture of this right.