

Abstract

Title: Comparison of selected minority sports in the Czech Republic from the player, spectator and management aspects

Objective: The aim of this work is to analyze the current situation in American football, frisbee and lacrosse in Prague and make suggestions for future improvements.

Methods: The applied methods included the study of literature, collection of information, questionnaire examining players motivation and SWOT analysis. The research was conducted through surveys among athletes doing this sports.

Results: Research has shown that the best prospects are waiting for frisbee, which benefits from minimum requirements for equipment and space. American football and lacrosse will probably never become mass sports, but using the above suggestions can improve their current position.

Key words: amateur sport, american football, frisbee, lacrosse, SWOT analysis, motivation
