

The bachelors thesis describes services of Jewish Museum in Prague offered to visitors and explorers. Introduction describes the museum as a cultural and informational institute, as well as summarizes Judaism in Czech Republic. This body of thesis has two parts: First part includes general description of Jewish Museum in Prague, its importance, history, facilities, speciality, and cultural-educational activities. In the second part there is a detailed description of selected projects, departments and special divisions, which author chose for importance and informational character of their services. The latter part is substantiated with written statements with experts.

[Author's abstract]