

Abstract

The first part of the Bachelor's thesis contains a translation of three articles from German into Czech. The articles were published in an Iceland-themed special edition of the GEO magazine. They are reportages with elements of popular science texts. In the second part, a translation commentary follows which consists of a translation analysis of the original text, an introduction of the translation concept and individual solutions of particular features.