ABSTRACT:

This bachelor’s dissertation is focusing on problems with the excessive strain of numeracy school principals. It describes all issues including principal responsibilities in sphere of economy, financing and accounting, and at the same time it offers potential solution of a workload reduction.

This dissertation is based on a confidence that should principal of numeracy school pay attention specially to the pedagogic process management, there has to be an efficient separation of authorities among principals, school mid-management and external service suppliers.

In the final part of dissertation you will find the brief recommendation regarding principal options for the workload reduction and at the same time the reduction of risk of his economic responsibility in managing the school.