Abstract

Summary: This bachelor’s thesis was compiled on the base of internship on department of rehabilitation and physical medicine ÚVN in Prague during the time period from 9th of January to 3rd of February 2012. The topic of this thesis is about subcapital fractures, thier treatment and complications. The work is divided into two main sections. The first part deals with theoretical findings of the topic. The second part contains detailed case report of a patient after osteosynthesis of subcapital fracture of left femur by DHS implant.

Key words: Physiotherapy, case study, subcapital fracture, osteosynthesis