

Abstract

Title:

Case report of physiotherapy care in patient with facial nervus peripheral palsy.

Objective:

Summary of theoretical knowledge and working out the case report of patient diagnosed with peripheral palsy of right facial nerve.

Method and result:

This thesis comprehensively summarizes the findings of peripheral facial nerve palsy and its treatment, especially with physiotherapeutic methods. It gives a wide view at the issue of physiotherapy in facial nerve palsy which is a symptom of many other diseases. The general part includes the pathogenesis, anatomy, etiology, incidence, prognosis, clinical features, kinesiological view, ways of testing in facial palsy and a range of therapeutic procedures which could be used in clinical praxis. The special part of this thesis contains case report of patient with peripheral palsy of right facial nerve and informs about using some of mentioned therapeutic procedures in successful treatment.

Keywords:

facial palsy, Bell's palsy, facial muscles, The Kenny Method, peripheral paresis, facial nerve palsy treatment