Abstract

Title: Case study of physiotherapeutic care of patient with constusion of shoulder joint and arm

Objectives: Primary objective of this thesis is to theoretically pose question about injury of the shoulder girdle including methods of treatment and resulting therapy. Practical part is dedicated to the casuistry of the patient after injury of the left shoulder point caused by a fall its treatment and rehabilitation process.

Keywords: shoulder point - contusion- therapy