

Title of bachelor's thesis: Case study of physiotherapeutic care of patient after an operation with fracture of neck of femur

Summary:

This bachelor's thesis was compiled on the base of intership on department of orthopedic University Hospital Královské Vinohrady. The main objective of this thesis is to theoretically pose question about fracture of neck of femur. It contains of two parts. The first part is theoretical, where I wrote about anatomy, kinematics, traumatology, medical and physiotherapy methods focused on neck of femur. The second part is decicated to the casuistry of the patient after injury of neck of femur. The fracture was treated by osteosynthesis with dynamic hip screw (DHS).

Keywords: physiotherapy, case study, osteosynthesis, fracture of neck of femur, dynamic hip screw