The aim of my thesis is to improve the orientation of students in the field of the basic hermetic sciences, for example the alchemy, the astrology and the magic, which are developing also nowadays. The first part of my thesis is considered to describe the renewal of the hermetism in Bohemia in the end of 19th century and to watch its development till the 30th of the 20th century. Another part of my project describes the hermetic society „Universalia“ and it presents the main and significant members of this group. Chapters that follow this text deal with the alchemy, the astrology and the magic – it's the essential part of my theses. They are considered to explain the young people these terms, to present them the history of these hermetic sciences, to open the scientific approach and first of all to compare several texts of czech hermetics of the limited period with the contemporary view with the following purpose – to instruct the students to approach to the hermetic science in the critic and cautious way. The last text is dedicated to the occult science in the nazi Germany and to its relation with Bohemia.
