

Title:

Gesture and physical gesture

Summary:

"Everything is connected with everything" on the basis of this sentence in the thesis of human gestures seeking connection with the outside world. Master's thesis in the first part highlights the importance of sensory perception, as one of the major sensitive sensor that uses our surroundings, by extension, our world is to communicate with us. In addition, point out the intellectual transformation of sensory perceptions, as the second phase of human perception. I thought the transformation of the image formation of a subjective reality seen and then selecting the appropriate medium to share with other people. The work and the choice of media is used for our gesture, whether it is a gesture in the position, time, space or matter. Teaching with artwork based on this concept.
