

Annotation

The content of this thesis is to clarify the issues of an aggressiveness of youth. The theoretical part focuses on integration of issues, explains basic concepts, defines the causes which are due to both internal factors such as ambient environment. The parts of the theory are also grades, types of aggression and manifestations of aggression. Furthermore I concentrate on adolescents and also on differences in the behavior of boys and girls. For the practical part I have set three goals and three hypotheses that I examined through an anonymous questionnaire and observation. My survey focused on aggression, awareness and diversity in the behavior of boys and girls, has been made on the second grade students of the Secondary School of Crafts and Services in Strakonice. The final part focuses on the evaluation of information and recommendations.
