

Abstract

Bachelor's work is a kind of research of the lives of people in Pelhrimov region during last days of the WW2 and the short time in its ending. It shows more about the reactions of the people to the Prague uprising and describes if they had also taken part in it. The work also describes the way how the revolt was going on and if it was in individual cases successful or not. The work contains first of all events mentioned in the chronicles of local towns and cities. The work also values the credibility of individual chronicles and other sources.

In the case of the chronicles I have used, I found out, that they don't contain any faults, so they can be used also in my next work.

One of the villages mentioned in my work is called Leskovice. On 5th and 6th May the village was burnt and local people were murdered by a SS crew from Pelhrimov. Beside using information from the chronicle, I went to the village and made some interviews with survivors of the tragedy, so I can verify these events by an authentic experience.
