Abstract

The aim of this thesis is analysis of public financial support of information society development in the Moravskoslezsky region. At first the work focuses on general information policy in the European Union and the Czech Republic. Then it analyzes programs and funds, from which the republic was able to draw in the period 2004-2006 and 2007-2013. In the following sections main attention is paid to the Moravskoslezsky region and its local information policy and implemented project in each period separately. The thesis is closed with the final comparison of both periods with an indication of possible direction of future development of information society.