

The submitted thesis deals with the tropical rainforests as one of the most threatened biomes of the world. The work is a comprehensive research sources to Czech and foreign literature dealing with characteristics of tropical rainforests. The main causes of the disappearance of tropical rainforests are described. Particular attention is devoted to Amazon forests. Conclusion of this work is devoted to the treatment of a worksheet.