

Abstract

Title: Casuistry of Physiotherapy Treatment of a Patient with the Diagnosis of Fracture of the Distal Radii

Summary: This work is focused on physiotherapy treatment of patients with the diagnosis of fracture of the distal radii. In the general part is the frequency of occurrence of fracture, mechanism of injury and the theoretical method of treatment of this injury. There are describe all possible therapeutic methods and procedures manual and physical therapy, which contribute to the rapid and full recovery the patient with this problem. A special part is prepared on the basis of case studies selected patients. There is also an application of my choice of methods and techniques selected from the general part, which I used in therapy to achieve the best results.

Key words: casuistry, physiotherapy, therapy methods, radius fracture