

The aim of this master thesis is to analyze the role of the concept of pure intentional object in aesthetics of Roman Ingarden. This analysis allows to avoid the problem of traditional aesthetical interpretations of Ingarden's maybe most important aesthetical work called The Literary Work of Art, in which this important work become a rupture in the whole of Ingarden's work.