

This bachelor thesis is aimed to description of current marketing mix, analysis of this mix and based on findings to propose changes leading to improvement of marketing mix. The theoretical part is aimed to define marketing concepts and its application in sport. In the methodology part are described individual used methods. In the final section are interpreted the findings of research and SWOT analysis and proposed changes of current marketing mix of Fitness Fanatic.