

ABSTRACT:

The practical part deals with the literary anthology, in which three books are analysed in terms of character development, action, symbolism and motives. These books were selected on the basis of the following specifying criteria - books for young people published in Bavaria in the last 20 years that have not been translated into the Czech language and are dealing with a problematic theme.

Specifically, the main books' motives are sexual abuse within family, bullying and escaping in the context of historical events.

Last but not least, the thesis includes translations and their reflections where the reader learns what difficulties occurred during translation books chosen for anthology.
