

Summary

This thesis brings a brief overview that covers works of writer Pavel Kohout in a film field, more in detail it focuses on an era of the 60's in the Czech context, when three movies were directed by this experienced screenplay writer, or at least significantly interfered. The aim of this thesis is to bring a comprehensive survey of a Kohout's neglected field and provide a new perspective of his work as well as his personality.