

The goal of this thesis is to design and implement a 3D space shooter with artificial intelligence. This thesis includes theoretic analysis of space shooters, types of artificial intelligence and assumptions important for developing in 3D space. The game also includes a simple artificial intelligent player.