

Abstract

This thesis describes the purchase contract under the Civil Code. Attention is paid to the legal regime of purchase contracts, the emergence of the purchase agreement, substantial content-conditions of the contract are by agreement in the purchase contract and the rights and obligations of the parties. The work also deals with the issue of acquisition of ownership rights under a contract and the seller's liability for defects in the object of purchase.