Title:
Intergenerational differences in attitudes towards the sport and its popularity.

Objectives:
The aim is to identify differences of opinions between two different generations, which are divided by age-group 18-25 years and group 60 years and more.

Methods:
In developing this thesis research was used written and electronic polling.

Results:
The result should be a diversity of groups in views on sports nowadays and in the past.

Keywords:
Differences, intergenerational, sport, popularity