Rozvrhovatko is a program dedicated for basic and high schools of small or medium size. The employees who are responsible for creating timetables for the school are provided with a simple tool which will save their time every year when they have to construct new timetables. Program can modify output of its generator by many parameters, such as number of lessons per day, required approbations for subjects, size of groups of students or free hours for chosen teachers. Secondary aim of program is to help those employees, who used to schedule everything on papers, to begin with automatic scheduling.
